SOLDIERS WANT PAPERS

London.—"More home newspapers, is the constant appeal from the American soldiers in the camps and hospitals in Great Britain," says an American Red Cross report made public here.

The American Red Cross library committee in London is now furnishing reading matter for 25,000 men weekly, the report states, but the supply of home newspapers is not equal to one-tenth the demand for them.

"Regarding books," says the report, "the men ask principally for fiction, and light fiction at that, but the American magazines and newspapers give far greater satisfaction than do books."

OSCAR, OUR HERO

The hearts of all beat in sad sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mitchell of Hull on the death of their son, Oscar S. Mitchell, who was killed in action Aug. 21, "somewhere in France." Oscar is the first of Hull's brave boys to meet death on the battlefield. He is Hull's first martyred hero and will always live in our love. On Sunday Rev. Frank Kingdom preached a memorial sermon at the Methodist Episcopal Church, and on Wednesday, a mass of requiem was said at the Catholic church, Hull Village for the repose of his soul. Both services were touching and impressive.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have been the recipient of hundreds of kindly letters of sympathy from all over the country.

LABOR DAY FETE BY CHILDREN

Labor Day at Gun Rock was given over to patriotic endeavors. From two to six o'clock "The Breakers," the popular summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunt, was the scene of the site of "children's friend" was the scene of a brilliant bazaar, or "zar," as little Arthur called it, for the soldier boys of Fort Verde and Andrew. Under the suggestion of Mrs. Hunt, and aided by her in wise management, the tote of the Gun Rock station planned and executed the most successful and brilliant event of the closing season.

Messrs. Timothy McCarthy, Michael O'Brien, Bernard McMahon, who in the mean time have devoted their efforts to helping the children in this section, and the Gun Hill Gala Day" turned their attention to assisting Mr. and Mrs. Hunt in this new and later form of gala day, with the result that the features of the old gala day and also included the new and important war idea and taught the children the glory of service. The sum of $150 which was raised will be turned over to Forts Verde and Andrew for comforts for the sick and wounded. Most of the boys at these forts are far from home and miss the one comfort and a regimental fund is trying to get means to supply such. Articles were contributed generously. Among the donors were Miss Lucy Lucy, who gave a beautiful embroidered sofa pillow cover; Mrs. John McGuire, a set of embroidered table mats; Mrs. P. J. O'Neill, 12 dozen astors; Miss Timothy McCarthy, a handkerchief; Miss Peggy McCarthy, a handkerchief; Miss Murphy, an embroidered laundry bag; Miss Mollie Riley, embroidered soft pillow; Miss Margaret Riley, large jar of tobacco; Mr. Clifford Hunt, a Moonish tobacco jar; Mrs. Clifford Hunt, a Rosary beads; Mrs. James Dowd, loaf of cake; Mrs. Frank Lean, large box of cake; Mrs. Charles Bridgeham, a custard pie; Mrs. Herbert Giblin, a hand knit hose; Mr. Bernard Mahon, a hand knit sweater; Mr. Ernest Patterson of the Kinsmore, carton of cigarettes. Miss John Minten contributed a basket and articles to the bazaar which was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. John Joyce of the Gun Rock House, who have always responded most generously in every way to all appeals of the children and who contributed $5.00 to the fund.

Mrs. Hunt was assisted in entraining by Misses Ruth McMahon and Eileen McMahon, Edith, Evelyn and Alice Liston, Margery Smith, Rita Hatch, Ruth and Grace Minten, Anna and Regina Daley, Geraldine McCarthy, Pauline Sears and Masters Paul Maguire, James D. Raymond, and others.

One of the girls present and showed her interest in the children whom he loves and in the event in many ways. He was the devoted attendant of Little Mary O'Neill the charming flower girl whom he assisted in distributing the beautiful blossoms by buying the entire stock and giving to all present. Mr. Goode of the Jazz Band of the Palm Garden contributed a much enjoyed piano solo. Miss Peggy Lyons, piano made a goodly sum with the Red Cross doll and Miss Rita stated had a small gold mine as the result of her efforts with the sewing table. Miss Peggy Lyons sang beautifully and received liberal applause. Children consider her "their sweet singer." Little Evelyn Mary T. Neary, sister of Mrs. Hunt, won all hearts by her contributions to the musical program and her assistance to the hostesses.

SOUTH SHORE SERVICE CLUB

The Hull chairman of the South Shore Service Club wishes to thank all those who so generously contributed to the town's share of the expenses. She also wishes to thank the ladies and girls who so kindly responded to her calls for work and knitting. For general and prompt response in solving these problems which arose she is indebted to Mr. Harry Stevens and Mr. John R. Wheeler, MRS. JOHN E. CAMPBELL, Chairman.

101ST DRIVE

On Sept. 7th American Expeditionary Forces will have completed 12 months of the day a drive for the comfort fund of the 101st regiment, which will be conducted in all the cities and towns where the regiment is represented. Hull has upon its honor roll nine boys in the regiment and it is hoped the town will respond generously to the call of the 100 young ladies who will canvass the town on that day under the leadership of two captains and nine lieutenants. The boys in the 101st are Thomas M. Olson, John J. Knowles, Douglas Ross, Arthur Irving, William H. Pitts, Raymond C. Gunnison, David Templeton, Lewis P. Hallowell and Adelbert Brewster, who in recognition of their service was allowed to come home for a short while and when we have all been proud to entertain and honor while here.

The following are the officers of the drive: Mrs. John E. Campbell, chairman; Mrs. H. H. Burr, assistant; Captains: Mrs. Frank E. Learned, Mrs. Bowen Tufts; Lieutenant, Mrs. J. F. Murray; Mrs. C. H. White, Mrs. Benjamin Chair.

Buckley, Miss Mary McCormick, Miss Bernice Gilman, Mrs. Lewis N. Gilman, Mrs. Clarence V. Nickerson, Mrs. Andrew Galiano, Mrs. Maud Mitchell. Headquarters will be established at the Damon School and Miss Edna Davis will be on duty as official messenger.

PROMINENT CANDIDATE VISITS FAIR

Since the retirement of Ex-Mayor Eugene R. Stone as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Councilor of the First District, there has been considerable activity in this section of the district in behalf of Harry H. Williams, of Brockton, who was the first to announce himself as candidate for the nomination immediately after the State Election in 1917. Mr. Williams is well and popularly known in Quincy, throughout the South Shore and the Cape, and has several personal calls upon his friends in support of him throughout the District recently. He received a cordial reception at the Waymouth Inn, Hull, upon the occasion of his visit there last Monday, and took considerable interest in the Muster, as he has been a member of the Hancock Vets of Brockton since their organization several years ago.

LATEST CONSERVATION IDEA

Jocel Bean of the Kennerup Park Trust and Nantasket Realty Trust has hit upon a novel idea to provide homes for the people who will go summering and the lumber workers now so necessary to our government. His "war cottage" idea situated on Newport road, Kennerup is attracting wide-spread attention.

It is made of canvas, with kitchen and living room and two sleeping rooms, lavatory and piazza. It is designed to meet the call for homes which cannot be met by permanent construction just now. It will stand by permission of the building inspector for one year after the conclusion of the war. Buy your lot now and have a home. At the conclusion of the war you will have your land paid for, can then erect a permanent home. Arrangements have been made with a carpenter and stonemason to take down and store away furniture and fixtures until the spring at a total cost of $30. Saves wear and tear of winter. These houses have all modern improvements, running water electric lights, etc., and are comfortable in the extreme. Mr. Bean says the demand for houses at Kennerup this year has been in excess of the supply and next summer the demand will be greater; and has thought on this pleasant way to meet the war conditions and the demands at the same time. Mr. Bean will show the war cottage any time. Now is the time to

South Boston Woman Tells How She Suffered Before
Doan's Cured Her.

"I was in awful shape from kidney disease," says Mrs. W. F. Sterritt, 757 Dorchester Ave., South Boston, Mass. "My kidneys were shattered so I would often fall in a heap. Had someone stabbed me in the back with a knife, the pain could not have been worse."

"I lost thirty pounds, was terribly nervous and could not sleep. Painting spells came on and my feet and limbs swelled so badly I couldn't wear my shoes. Puffy sacs came under my eyes, the skin looked shiny. Mr. Sterritt left the impression of a finger, left a dent a thumb wide."

"My kidneys were in awful shape and it seemed that I had to pass the secretions every hour. The passages were constant and terribly distressing. I was feverish at night and perspired profusely."

"I was discouraged until told about Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought improvement from the first and about a dozen boxes cured me. My cure has lasted."

SOMETHING HE WON'T FORGET

Soldier's Foolishness in Using His Mask Bag for Mail Pouch Nearly Cost Him His Life.

Don't carry anything in your gas mask bag that doesn't belong there.
That isn't a general order, but the fruit of at least one man's experience.

He had gone over the top on a patrol.
Somebody smelled gas; on went the masks. He bit into it, clamped his nose on tight, and started to breathe.

That is, he tried to. For several agonizing minutes he struggled to get wind through it. And then he found it was a false alarm.

Thanking his stars that it hadn't been a real attack to be endured with a safety appliance that was as dangerous as the German pistol itself, he went to his lieutenant at the first opportunity and told him that the thing didn't work.

The lieutenant looked at it.
"What's this?" he asked.

From the slot at the base of the respirator he drew a postcard that had stuck there.

"Now try it," he said.

It worked. That man isn't using his mask bag as a mail pouch any more.—
Stars and Stripes.

any husbands. It was funny how hard some men were to suit.

Of course, when he did select one of the neatest of these girls everyone said they were sure they were surprised—nice enough girl, to be sure, but they hadn't thought he would be so easily suited. The day of the wedding was settled, and Alice, with fast beating heart and trembling hands, spent long hours each day trying to decide whether her first trip would be to the Argentine,
to Japan or to Egypt.

She asked Alexander Burton's advice, and as she did so she hoped that he did not notice that her lips were dry and that her heart was beating furiously. She tried so hard to show true Cordova enthusiasm over the prospects of her long-planned trip.

"It doesn't much matter where you begin," Burton told her. "I suppose you might spend six months in each place the first time. I suppose you won't aim to get back for over a year.
Your brother can handle your affairs perfectly. I am sure, and banking arrangements can easily be made for you at various ports."

"Oh, hadn't you expected me back for over a year?" Alice asked, growing fainter at the thought and then wishing she hadn't said what she had.

"Then wouldn't be any object, would it?" asked Burton, quite calmly.
"You can keep in touch with us by letters."

"Yes, indeed," commented Alice. She tried to keep Burton from leaving early that evening. She wanted him to say something that he did not. It was autumn—the crisp, Indian summer days had come and were almost gone, and yet he had not brought up the question that had become habitual at the turn of the season.

There were two weeks more before the wedding and before Alice's departure.
The trunks were almost packed and Alice had made arrangements in a half-hearted way to put some few personal possessions in storage. Everyone was saying to everyone else that Alice was lucky to be able to start out at last, and Alice tried very hard to keep a beaming smile on her face when she went out or when neighbors called to congratulate her. She felt that at all hazards she must be true to the tradition of the Cordovas. She must not show herself unworthy of their blood. Still her eyes filled with tears when she looked at the traveling bags, and on the eve of her departure she threw herself on her bed and gave way to the tears that had been gathering.
Despoiled, once more, of a measure of self-control, she telephoned to Alexander Burton, asked him to meet her in a certain woodland path where the autumn leaves were still gold and red and, donning a thick veil to hide her tear-stained eyes, hurried out to meet him.

She sat herself down on a fallen log and drew him to her side before she
"I'm not going," she said. "I want you to be the first one to know it.
I can't go; I shall be miserable. Perhaps I am not a Cordova, after all.
And it has been my life-long dream—"

Her eyes filled again with tears, she swayed toward Burton's shoulder and then as he drew her detected face to him, she gave way to another deluge of tears.
He tried to raise her face, but Alice therewith clung to him and kissed his cheek quite as if this were not the first time in all her life that she had permitted any tenderer show of emotion than a prolonged hand shake.

"And the neighbors"—at last she managed to say between sobs.
"The neighbors will say I am not a Cordova, and really it isn't that at all; it's just because—" and then she hid her face again and refused further explanation.

Gradually it became apparent to Alexander Burton, though perhaps he had guessed it several days before, that Alice had really decided that she loved him enough to stay home for him.

"And we'll marry and settle down and plant perennials," Alice said. "And we'll just tell people that I loved you so much I gave up being a woman that I decided to be a Burton instead of a Cordova."

"Why do that?" calmly queried Burton.
"I've made all arrangements till the last. We'll get married in October and start out next week with you. We can begin with the Argentine and then go wherever we choose. I have sold my business to really very good advantage and it's all settled."

Alice's eyes were beaming with such joy as they had never shown before.
"But you aren't a Cordova," she gasped.

"No, but I've been studying the records of the Burtons," inquired Alexander once; and then Alice explained that they had only thing that stood in the way of her ambition was the fact that her brother had not married. Sometime he would marry and then she would start to go nomad.

Alice's wardrobe, from year to year always showed a complete traveling outfit, and while other women in the neighborhood wore filmy silks and flowed hats to church and to go shopping, Alice was always dressed in trim
tailor-made clothes with shoes and hats that would have been worthy of an experienced globe-trotter. It was whiteperered about that she had a wonderful collection of luggage, a perfectly equipped traveling toilet case, folding umbrella and all the contraptions invented to tempt the habitual traveler.
But people did not think much of Alice, nor even smile at her fat. They assumed she was rich, as she assured them, that she was a real Cordova and hence necessarily had to travel.

The pity was that Alice's brother didn't marry and release her. Certainly there were enough nice girls in town without a fraction smaller than the output of 1910.

In all, 9,116 wells were drilled for oil in the fields east of the Mississippi River in 1917, an increase of 2,091 wells or 10 per cent, compared with 1916. Of the wells completed, 0,042, or 90 per cent, were oil producers credited with an average output of 10 barrels each the first 24 hours after completion.
1,240 were gas wells and 1,823 were dry or failures.

What The Packers
Do For You

Not very many years ago in the history of the world, the man that lived in America had to hunt for his food, or go without.

Now he sits down at a table and decides what he wants to eat; or his wife calls up the market and has it sent home for him. And what he gets is incomparably better.

Everyone of us has some part in the vast human machine, called society, that makes all this convenience possible.

The packer's part is to prepare meat and get it to every part of the country sweet and fresh—to obtain it from the stock raiser, to dress it, cool
it, ship it many miles in special refrigerator cars, keep it cool at distributing points, and get it into the consumer's hands—your hands—through retailers, all within about two weeks.

For this service—so perfect and effective that you are scarcely aware that anything is being done for you—you pay the packers an average profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound above actual cost on every pound of meat you eat.

The more things the draft officials

Mr. Hatters says the game is getting a firm hold on every nationality in the British capital.

"Why, recently," quoth he, "I saw a game in which East Indians were playing. One of these approached the plate at a crucial moment and cried aloud:

"Allah, give me strength to make hit!"

"He struck out."
The next man up was an Irish-

at the pitcher, and yelled:

"You know me, Al!" He made a

FINANCE PROBLEM IN EASY TERMS

Government Must Have Twenty-four Billions in a Year.

WILL BE RAISED BY SAVING

Sixteen Cents From Each Dollar Each One Earns, and the Rest by Selling Liberty Bonds to Patriotic Citizens.

By LEBERT ST. CLAIR.

The problem of government finances is just as complicated as we choose to make it. Approached from different angles, it can be made as baffling as a Chinese puzzle or as simple as the operation of an old-fashioned darning chisel.

If one attempts to delve into the ramifications of the expansion of currency, and all that sort of thing, he is very likely to develop stiff neck from craning up and down columns of figures and wind up by declaring that figures lie horribly.

On the other hand, if he faces the situation in a broad, concrete way and compares it with the problem of financing his home, or some similar everyday expenditure, he can grasp and master it as he would the handle of the family pump.

Here is the government's immediate financial problem in a nutshell: In the next twelve months $24,000,000,000 probably will be required by the United States government to meet war expenses. The total income of every person in this country is only about $20,000,000,000 a year. Therefore, if the cost of the war for the next year were to be assessed pro rata, every person's share would be forty-eight cents on every dollar that he she earns.

Needed to Beat Off Murderers.

Now let us bring the proposition a little nearer home. Suppose that a band of murderers, in blood-smeared uniforms of gray, having slaughtered their way through the helpless waves of women and children in nearby cities just as the Hun has done in France and Belgium, established themselves in the woods at the edge of our town with the fixed purpose of waging slaughter in our midst. Then, if we were annoyed by the authorities that it would cost forty-eight cents of every dollar that every earner in our town made in the next twelve months to conduct a defense against the murderer, that would be clear, wouldn't it? And if the authorities were to go further and say that they would assess sixteen cents on this forty-eight on persons who could afford to pay it and accept the other thirty-two from persons who, out of their real aid in the defense of their homes and their loved ones, would take the promise of the local government to repay it, that would be plain, too.

There isn't a bit of difference between the local case I have described and the present case of United States government. The Hun is in the offing, the government needs an average of 48-one hundredths of everyone's earning in the next year to conduct its defense, and it plans to raise this money on a one-third tax and two-thirds bond or stamp sale plan. Within the next year approximately $8,000,000,000 will be raised by taxes and $16,000,000,000 by the sale of government securities.

Must Be Raised by Economy.

There is the situation, and the question now arises: How in the land of Gothen are we ever going to raise such a sum as $24,000,000,000? The answer is: Save as we never have before.

It will not be pleasant to skimp ourselves, for we have not been used to skimping, but we simply shall have to do it. That old $24,000,000,000 requirement is going to stick to us like a bone—a pain of mittens, and we simply must raise it.

We must practice the same economy to raise the money with the Hun 8,000 miles away that we would if he were in the groove out at the edge of town. We may be 8,000 miles away in person, but at every beat his insatiable heart opens that gap between your daughter and mine and his fingers have a virulent 2,000-mile itch for your money and your fauna.

The question of what each of us must economize on can be settled only in our individual minds and at our own pleasure. If the Hun were in the groove literally, would any of us ask our neighbors what we should sacrifice in order to help raise our respective shares of this forty-eight cents on the dollar? I think not.

My notion is that the question every patriotic American should ask himself is: What must I have? The query: What can I get along without? is not searching enough.

Heber Grimm's Story Apron.

Every time the idea of saving occurs to me I think of old Heber Grimm, a character out in my western Indiana town who had a peculiar habit of joining church. Just as regularly as revival meetings him rolled around, Heber would get himself all hot up over his sins and, along in the last days of the meeting, he would come roaring and shouting down the aisle and into the pulpit.

Nowadays, though, Heber never gets around to making any sacrifices in behalf of his new found religion. He always keeps right on chewing tobacco, swearing like a mule driver, drinking like a fish, and, worst of all, squanders his money on loud clothes and other luxuries to such an extent that he seldom had a cent to apply to any worthy cause, such as the care of his family or the upkeep of the church.

As a result of Heber's regularity in blackballing, therefore, for a dozen years or more the church folks never baptised him. They just sort of let him slide along, and, when immersion day finally arrived he usually was out behind his trotting horse, at a cock fight, or at some other place scarcely fitted for converts.

Finally, though, the church authorities got tired of Heber's professions of faith and their subsequent flattening out, and when the next revival started, along in the spring, and he began to show signs of interest, they advised him that his confession would be received only with the understanding that immersion should follow immediately. He thought the matter over for three days and then agreed to join that night and be baptised without delay. And, sure enough, he arrived bright and early, and, when the going got good he joined up for the thirteenth time.

Baptized Him in a Flood.

Unfortunately, just as the meeting started, a terrific storm arose and the subsequent cloudburst flooded the country, Coal Creek, where the baptism was to take place, being particularly swollen. This situation made the baptism somewhat dangerous, but the authorities agreed that it was their only chance to get Heber, so, after church, with the repentant sinner in tow, and armed with lanterns, they filed down to the creek for the baptism.

Stories differ as to how Heber, just as he was being immersed, escaped the officiating pastor's hands, some saying he wriggled out and others maintaining that he slipped, but, anyhow, he disappeared in the darkness. Daylight found him perched in a sycamore tree, a mile down the creek, in the center of a whirlpool that was worth a man's life to attempt to invade. Hence, we had to leave him up the tree for three days until the water receded.

Why He Vowed Sacrifices.

When the rescuing party finally arrived at the base of the tree, it was surprised to find Heber raining down ping tobacco, drinking liquor, dice, sticks, fancy rings and other trinkets on which he had squandered his money, and declaring loudly that there was no sacrifice he would not make in the future for the good of the church and the protection of his soul. Nor did he descend until he had stripped himself of everything that he could reasonably spare and a little bit more.

"Well, Heber," Bill Boggs, the postmaster said, after shaking hands with him, "I certainly was impressed with your spirit of sacrifice. Why was it that you never did that before?"

"Why, thunderation, man!" Heber exploded, "I never was up a tree like that before."

And there you are. When before were we, as patriotic citizens, up a tree as we are this year?

NO WASTE IN ARMY CAMPS

Conservation and Reclamation Division Obtains Maximum Utilization of All Materials.

One of the most insidious pieces of German propaganda which the government has to combat appears in the guise of rumors concerning excessive wastes of all foodstuffs and supplies in our army camps and cantinons. A glance at the work of the conservation and reclamation division of the army readily establishes the falsity of these reports.

The aim of the conservation and reclamation division is to obtain the maximum utilization of all materials of service, to reduce the waste of these materials to a minimum, to destroy nothing, and to dispose of all material useless to the army at the greatest profit possible.

No restrictions are placed upon our soldiers' appetites, but the highest care is exerted to prevent the soldier from taking more on his plate than he wants—in other words, much of the food that formerly was lost through carelessness is now saved.

The reclamation and reclamation division is also active charge of farming and garden operations for each camp and cantinon.

The products of the separating and the classifying of kitchen waste, produced in the preparation and serving of every meal at the mess; the object of this careful separation and classification of kitchen waste is to prevent waste.

The division also has active charge of farming and garden operations for each camp and cantinon. The products raised in the field of the separating and providing animals with forage. No men fit for active duty are required to assist in this agricultural service. The quartermaster general of the army has a much more efficient plan, for he has this work done by hired aliens, enemy prisoners, conscientious objectors and military prisoners. Of our own enlisted men only those physically unsuited for service overseas or partially disabled are assigned to this agricultural service.

The boys at the front and at camp are getting a training in conservation and reclamation which will enable them to do a better job when they get home.

Notable guests registered at the popular Kearny Cottage.

Mrs. Frank A. Steele and winsome little daughter Ruth are guests of Mrs. Steele's sister, Mrs. Martin Walsh, at her pleasant summer home on Stony Beach.

A near drowning accident happened early this week at Stony Beach when a bather was seized with intestinal cramps. The people on the beach at first thought that he was floating. Mr. Williams finally went to his rescue and brought him ashore. Dr. John Sweeney and Dr. Gooding, with the assistance of the pulmometer which was rushed to the scene by the fire department, succeeded in resuscitating the man. It is said that only quick work on the part of the rescuer, the doctors and the fire department succeeded in averting a sad termination to the accident.

Mr. John Patterson of the Kensmore House contributed big cartons of cigarettes to the Labor Day fete given by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunt at their summer home, The Breakers, at Gun Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Walsh of Cohasset are entertaining Mr. Harry David Abredoch, Salesman of Weber Kindred Company. Mr. Selton is a comedian of unusual ability and is well-known all over the United States. The ability to make people laugh is of the utmost value in these sad days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kay of the same company are guests at the same place as is also Mr. David Higgins, leading man of the Star and Garter Show, and Mrs. Higgins.

We are glad to announce that Mrs. John Sweeney, who has been very ill and confined to her bed for several weeks under the care of a trained nurse, is able to be up and "down stairs again."

That Mr. Fred Penfold of the Cleveland House is gallant and has a kindly heart is widened when on seeing Mrs. Sweeney upon the plaza for the first time since her illness, he gently kissed her hand as a token of his joy at seeing her: It was a graceful act and worthy of a knight of old.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunt have won the title of "The Children's Friends" and it is well deserved.

Miss Jerome Hennessy of Washington and daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Burns of Milon, were the weekend guests of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hennessy, at their home on Hampton Circle.

Mrs. John M. Brennan entertained Mrs. Walter Hunson over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hennessy celebrated the 16th anniversary of their marriage at their new summer cottage, "The Enchanted" on Aug. 31, in a pleasant manner, surrounded by neighbors and friends. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Bandle of New York, who are now summering at Humarock Beach. A bountiful and delicious supper was served, the dining room being decorated in autumn colors and foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dyer and daughter Helen, Hazel and Winsome baby son, Norman C., are occupying their new cottage on Hampton Circle during the waning season. Mrs. Mork, Mrs. Dyer's mother, is with them, and enjoys the place. Mrs. Mork has a very friendly and helpful spirit. The family are spending their first season here and will be welcomed again.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Edward Sheehan of Dorchester are among those staying late at their Hampton Hill summer home.

It is said by one of the prominent men at the New Weymouth House that Mr. William McCarthy, the proprietor, and Mr. Edward Cooper, for the past 20 years who clerk here, of Cambridge, are contemplating a trip to Jamaica when the season closes. On their return Mr. Cooper is thinking seriously of opening an electrical shop in Cambridge.

Mr. Robert Patterson, proprietor of "Bob's Lunch," is going to Cuba for the winter months.

Mrs. Mary Lynch, sister of Mr. William H. McCarthy of the New Weymouth House, with her child, has made her home with Mr. McCarthy this season. Mrs. Lynch has acted as housekeeper.

Mr. Robert Sawyer, pianist at the New Weymouth House, will be with McCarthy & Fish, "song pluggers," this winter.

We will have to put the Cleveland Home on the road of honor with the Oakdale Hotel because of the profuse welcome we received, the inside information, as it were, that they cook an excellent boiled dinner there.

Mrs. Murphy, the popular singer at the New Weymouth House, is versatile and can sing soprano and contralto very well. Mr. Walsh, tenor singer, and Mr. Murphy, novelties singer, are always applauded. Their latest hit is "Smiles."

Mr. Henry Salana has recently purchased the Pine Cottage on Hampton Circle, formerly occupied by Mr. Reynolds.

"John" Sawyer, who presided at the piano at the New Weymouth house, is some artist. Talk about manipulating the "wires," he certainly is pastmaster.

Miss Bernice Foster, a young woman, was very ill at the home of her parents the past few weeks, is now able to be up and out on the plaza.

The waning season witnessed several big events for war work.

Among the prominent affairs of the week was the bridge given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. William Nolan of the Kenberma colony. Mrs.

Nolan, who is for the Summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dasha, is an active Red Cross worker, and devotes almost all her time to war work and its allied activities. Her only recreation this season has been her charming entertainments given for the members of the younger set, of which she is one of the most popular members. Ensign Nolan is now in active duty on the high seas, being enrolled in the service of Uncle Sam for several months.

Favor at her matinee bridge were taken by Miss Alice Sullivan, Mrs. Charles Barry, Miss Regna O'Connell and Miss Dorothy Brennan.

Invited for the affair were Miss Esther Dasha, Mrs. Stanley W. Blanchard, Miss Mollie Sullivan, Miss Madeline O'Connell, Miss Helen Daley of Marlboro, who is the guest of Miss O'Connell, Miss Gertrude Morton and Miss Dorothy Eleanor Elston at Graystone Inn for the closing season.

Mr. and Arthur McGill have been entertaining their son, Lieut. Raymond McGill, who has recently returned from Texas on a furlough of nine days. Lieut. McGill has had much training in his chosen military career and desires to go "over there."

Mr. John Mahoney has returned to his summer home at Kenberma after spending the month of August at the Samoam in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathew McIntyre entertained Mr. Howard Hussey of Roxbury and Mrs. Estabrook of Brookline.

Manufacturers of suits assure us that no supply of wool beyond that they have already secured is in sight, and it follows that our spring clothes are likely to be made of some other sort of material. Already a variety of new materials is on the shelves of the stores and in the stock rooms of the factories. Whoever needs a wool suit would best buy it early in the season before the supply runs out. It may have to do service for the next three years; but it is easy to put up with this state of things. If all the wool is needed for the ever-increasing army, women will do without it.

There are on hand just now suits and coats for fall in good wool materials and in many graceful styles. One of them is shown above in a practical and plain model that will prove a good investment. It will be noticed that the skirt is longer than for several seasons. This is an echo of French styles which are now being followed in America. American women are more like the cleanliness of shorter skirts and they also like their more businesslike style and may insist that, in street suits at least, the miniskirt for longer skirts be discredited.

Instructions for Men Who Are to Be Called On to Serve Their Country.

"To insure a Safer World for Our Children.

"Since the beginning of our government it has been the law of this country that every able-bodied male citizen and declarant between eighteen and forty-five is subject to be summoned to its defense.

"The occasions have happily been rare when such a summons has had to be issued. We face the need now.

"Over 10,000,000 of our men of fighting age have already registered for selection. Out of this number many have been chosen, trained, and sent to battle across the sea, while others are in training or on the way. They have made us very proud of them, these splendid soldiers, and some have already given their lives for us. We shall not fail to support them and to re-enforce them.

"The remaining 13,000,000 are now called upon to register for selection. The only purpose of this extension of the selective service law is to bring a speedier end to the war and to insure a safer world for our children.

"Since the enemy has compelled the arbitration of force, force let it be, force overwhelming. The registration of the entire man-power of the United States will be our unshakable pledge to humanity that democracy is to be the regime of the future."

"NEWTON D. BAKER,"

"Secretary of War."

WHO MUST REGISTER

All male persons must register who shall have attained their eighteenth birthday and shall not have attained their forty-fifth birthday on or before the day set by the president for registration. The only exceptions are:

(A) Persons who prior to the day set for the registration by the president, have registered either under the terms of the act approved May 18, 1917, or under the terms of the public resolution of congress approved May 20, 1918, whether called for service or not;

(B) Officers and enlisted men of the regular army, officers appointed, and men of the forces drafted, under the provisions of the act approved May 18, 1917; officers and enlisted men of the National Guard while in the service of the United States; and the officers of the officers' reserve corps and enlisted reserve corps while in the service of the United States; and,

(C) Officers and enlisted men of the navy and marine corps, and officers and enlisted men enrolled men of the naval reserve force and marine corps reserve while in the service of the United States.

HOW TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ON REGISTRATION CARD AND INSTRUCTIONS FOR REGISTRATION.

Detailed Information for Making Out Registration Card.

Both Registrars and Registrants will be guided by the instructions herein contained. The Registrar should study them before Registration Day, and the Registrant should read them carefully and prepare the answers in his mind before going to the Registration Table. The answer to the questions shall be given and the entries made in the numerical order listed. All answers will be written on the Registration Card in ink by the Registrar, who should be careful to spell all names correctly and to write legibly.

[Do not write on, mark, or otherwise mutilate the instructions. Do not remove them.]

In some spaces as indicated in the directions, checks will be used to indicate the answers, a dash, which is designed to save the time of the Registrant.

REGISTRATION CARD.

REGISTRAL NUMBER—Registrars shall leave this space blank.

ORDER NUMBER—Registrars shall leave this space blank.

1. STATE YOUR NAME AS INDICATED. SPELL OUT EACH NAME IN FULL.

2. PERMANENT HOME ADDRESS—This means where you have your permanent home now. NOT what the place where you were born, unless you were born outside the United States.

He prepared to give it this way: "10 Woodlawn Ave., Dartmouth, Wayne County, Michigan." If the registrant lives in an apartment house, he should state the name of the apartment in which he lives. If his address is "in care of" someone else, he should state the name of the person.

3. AGE IN YEARS—State your age to day in YEARS ONLY. Disregard additional months or days. "I'm prepared to say '24," "25," not "17 years, 3 months," etc.

4. DATE OF BIRTH—If you do not remember the year, start to answer as you would if you had gathered your birth date, as "October 1st." Then add "my birthday, as 'October 1st.' That is, my birthday, this year, I will be over 100 years old." The registrar will then fill in the year, and the registrant will then tell the registrar by subtracting the age in years on this year's birthday from 1918.

5. RACE.

6. WHITE—if you are white, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8 and 9 blank.

7. NEGRO—if you are a negro, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7 and 8 blank.

8. ORIENTAL—if you are an oriental, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7 and 8 blank.

INDIAN.

9. CITIZEN—If you are a citizen Indian born in the United States, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 blank. An Indian born in the United States is a citizen if (1) he, or his father or mother or both, were citizens of the United States prior to his birth, or (2) he was born in the age of 5 in allotted land or received a patent in fee simple prior to May 8, 1906; (3) if he was allotted land subsequent to May 8, 1906, and received a patent in fee simple prior to April 11, 1908; (4) if he lives separate and apart from his tribe and has adopted the habits of civilization.

10. NONCITIZEN—If you are a non-citizen Indian born in the United States, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 blank.

An Indian born in the United States shall be classed as a noncitizen Indian unless he falls within one of the classes of citizens Indians described in space 8.

UNITED STATES CITIZEN.

11. NATIVE BORN—if you are a native-born citizen of the United States, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 blank. If you were born in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, are a native-born citizen of the United States irrespective of the citizenship of your parents. Any inhabitant of Porto Rico, who was a Spanish subject on April 11, 1899, and who remained there after the United States assumed control, is entitled to reside therein until April 11, 1900, is held to be a citizen of Porto Rico, except such inhabitants, natives of the Spanish peninsula, who either claimed or professed their allegiance to Spain on or before April 11, 1899, by making a declaration, before a court of record, of their decision to do so. Any citizen of Porto Rico, or any other inhabitant of Porto Rico who was born abroad, and who became a citizen of the United States, if your father was a citizen of the United States at the time you were born, unless you have renounced your citizenship of Porto Rico.

12. NATURALIZED—if you are a naturalized citizen of the United States, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 blank.

You are a naturalized citizen if you have completed your naturalization, that is, if you have "taken out final papers." But, if you are still a citizen of another country, you are not a naturalized citizen. You may be a naturalized citizen of the United States if your father was a citizen of the United States at the time you were born, unless you have renounced your citizenship of the United States.

13. DECLARANT—if you are a declarant alien, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15 blank. You are a declarant alien if you do not fall within one of the classes described in spaces 10, 11, 12 and 13 and are not a citizen of another country.

You are a nondeclarant alien if you are a citizen or subject of some other country.

If you are a nondeclarant alien, you have declared before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States. If you have declared before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States, but have not yet done so, you are a declarant alien.

14. NONDECLARANT—if you are a nondeclarant alien, the registrar will place a check in this space and proceed to the determination of your citizenship, leaving spaces 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15 blank. You are a nondeclarant alien if you do not fall within one of the classes described in spaces 10, 11, 12 and 13 and are not a citizen of another country.

You are a nondeclarant alien if you are a citizen or subject of some other country.

If you are a nondeclarant alien, you have declared before a naturalization court your intention to become a citizen of the United States, but have not yet done so, you are a declarant alien.

15. This need be answered only by declarant aliens. Remember that a declarant is not yet a citizen of the United States. If you are an alien of either class, state the name of your country, which the registrar will write in this space. ## HULLONIANS' HAPPY HOURS

Mrs. Margaret Hollis, who has been ill for some weeks and confined to a hospital for about two weeks, is improved somewhat, we are glad to state.

Miss Geraldine Douglass has become an expert driver of her handsome new car.

Mrs. G. V. Nickerson entertained Mrs. Sirovich at luncheon recently. It is recorded as a pleasant fact that Mrs. Nickerson is generous with her new car and takes out the shut-ins and aged and others on pleasant motor trips.

We are glad to state that Mrs. John Hastings, who was operated upon at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, is resting as comfortable as could be expected after a serious operation. Mrs. Hastings is always interested in good works and is much missed from active service in war work.

The latest arrival at the Allerton Gables is Miss Hannah Smith, who has had a delightful stay at Onset.

Miss Hazel Austin of Milford has been the guest of Mrs. David R. Shaw for the past few weeks. Mrs. John Usher Marion McCall of Milford is now home.

Word has been received by Mrs. Morris Blomand her sister, Miss Florence Cohen, bookkeeper at the Boston Cash Market, that their brother, Private E. Cohen, 96th Co., 6th Regt., U. S. Marine Corps, has been badly gassed.

Mrs. Daniel V. McIsaac of the noted social and patriotic workers of the summer colony, who has resided at Bay-side for several seasons with her family, is receiving the felicitations of her many friends over her recent birthday gift from her husband, former Asst. Dist. Atty. McIsaac, of a beautiful home at the corner of P street and Nantasket avenue. They took possession of their new home on Tuesday of this week. This family is among the most valued of the summer residents and all are glad that they have become real estate owners. Their oldest son, Charles Franklin, is at the Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburgh. Mrs. McIsaac has been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Nease of Chestnut Hill for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. McIsaac start immediately after settlement in their new home, for Plattsburgh, where they will spend some time. Mrs. McIsaac is a striking and handsome figure as she drives about in her big car.

Attention is called to the official notice of the School Committee in another column.

Smelting season, the best time of all the year, has arrived.

Mrs. Sirovich has several attractive houses and furnished apartments (light housekeeping) to let for the season.

Interest in the recent party for the 101st Regiment was gratifying. The Misses Adelaine Watson, Dorothy Elston, Madelaine O'Neill, Anna Murphy, Anna Callahan, Mina Daly, Eunice Fitzgerald, Matrice Britt, Florence McCarthy, Etta Hirn, Alice O'Connell, Anna O'Connell, Alice McGovern, Mary McGovern, Alice Murphy, Margaret Crowley, Eugene McIntyre, Maizie Hammond, Eileen Flaherty, Agnes Good, Peggy Grannan, Marion Reardon, all assisted in making the affair a success.

Mrs. Edward Sampson of Hull Hill was hostess and royally entertained the members of her whist club.

The dances at the Yacht Club, under the auspices of the Special Aid for the boys in the vicinity, are popular. Ladies from the Special Aid act as chaperones.

The Beacon Club had discontinued the motion picture night, but will keep its doors open for some time to come, and will be the scene of many informal but interesting and pleasant affairs.

Letters from "over there" have been received by Mrs. James S. Blake, and her sister, Mrs. Imogene Chick, announcing the safe arrival of their nephew "Ned," with the boys of the 71st, and says that they are all well.

The Junior Red Cross and Surgical Dressings Class which was organized on Allerton Hill late in the season with Miss Irene Tilden as chairman, has been very successful.

In the five meetings held, some 2,000 dressings have been done, the work being divided so that the very small folks could pull the threads and the older members paint the wipers. A personal letter from Miss Bangs to the members was one of the rewards for their excellent service.

During their season they have given their contribution regularly as do the seniors and then, also, from their play they secured a considerable amount. The time for this successful event was taken from their vacation time and for five weeks they were drilled by Mrs. Henry Smith and by Mrs. Clarence Bruce, who aided them at their rehearsals and arranged for their campaign of collecting funds and producing the most successful junior dramatics of this summer.

Continuing their attendance at the meetings which were brought to a close on Wednesday morning are Miss Dorothy Donlan, Miss Ethel Wing, Miss Ruth Wing, Miss Mollie Tufts, Miss Madeline Stockwell, Miss Carolyn Green, Miss Nastie Sheldon, Miss Marlow Grosvenor, Miss Ruth Whitcomb, Miss Margaret Bradley, Miss Helen Askenasy, Miss Margaret Bacon, Miss Ruth Avery and Miss Williams.

At the close of their season there will be a general fund to the French War Fund, at least $100 being in the treasury after meeting their expenses.

The senior members of the class composed of the matrons of the Hill have held several meetings, going to the home of Mrs. Wilbur each Monday and Tuesday mornings. They have supplied their funds by voluntary subscription, Mrs. Charles Burlington being treasurer. Between ten and eleven thousand dollars have been made this season and there will be a neat sum left in the treasury to carry over for the work next year.

Events of social interest include the very smart military luncheon given by Mrs. James S. Blake at her Allerton Hill home in honor of Mrs. Frank S. Long, wife of Major Long and of Mrs. Elder, wife of Captain Elder of the 1st Artillery, now in foreign service. The tables, strewn with roses from the wonderful rose gardens of the hostess and the centerpiece was an old-fashioned bouquet of blossoms in the national colors. At either end of the table was a mounted cannon and throughout the cottage the color scheme of red, white and blue, was used, all in flowers. Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon. Mrs. Blake, in white muslin and lace, was assisted by Miss Jean Chick, also in a white embroidered robe. The guests were Mrs. Long, Mrs. Elder, Mrs. John A. Avery, Mrs. S. Wilder Bartlett and Mrs. W. W. Slade.

Frank Sheldon and his son, Arthur Sheldon, have just returned to their Allerton Hill home after a sojourn in the mountain sections of Canada. Recent hostesses include Mrs. S. Wilder Bartlett, who gave a dinner for Captain and Mrs. Campbell of Bunkin Island and also invited among their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wood.

Mrs. Bartlett will change residence at the home of Mr. Driscoll of Yawland are rejoicing in the advent of a little son born Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Driscoll's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Corcoran of Roxbury. Driscoll is now glad he has another frenan in the family.

Miss Lillian Marks of Riverbank Court, Cambridge, has, through a friend, been able to secure some books for the Hull Village Library. The building wherein the library is situated is her home.

Mrs. Margaret Hollis is at the New England Sanitarium at Melrose, according to later news, and is very ill. Mrs. Nellie Dill, widow of John Dill, is very ill at the Boston hospital. Mrs. Bertha James is keeping house for her.

Mr. Vincent James of New York has been visiting Capt. J. T. Goliath and son, Charles Franklin, at the Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburgh. Mrs. McIsaac has been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Nease of Chestnut Hill for the past month.

SUNSET POINT POINTERS

The last meeting of the Sunset Club was held at the home of Mrs. Everett Arnold. The officers were elected for the coming year as follows:

Mrs. Ida Sylvester, President; Miss Isadore Atwood, secretary; Miss Dorothy Holman, treasurer.

Punch was served by the hostess and at the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Arnold, with a few well chosen words, presented the gavel to Mrs. Sylvester. After the ceremony which was paid at four tables, Mrs. Etta Holman won the first prize, a vase; Mrs. Emma Davis captured the booby, a dainty basket. The club has a large amount of work during the season. A very handsome Afghan was suggested by Mrs. Buckley, and the blocks were made by Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Oughton and Mrs. Buckley put it together. This was presented to Bunkin Island by the chairman of the war work, in the name of the club. Thirty-six pairs of booties, 40 bouquets, 40 towels, 46 handkerchiefs and 22 pairs of socks were made and turned in to the local chapter of the S. A. S. A. All contributions, dollars, to the Special Aid, and thirty dollars to the South Shore Service Club. A goodly amount to be accomplished with only 20 members. I wish to thank all of the ladies for their interest, and the splendid work they have accomplished.

Mary D. Learned, Chairman, War Work Committee.

Mrs. V. Merrill Jones has invited the ladies of the club to a social afternoon at her home, the Carter, on next Friday.

Mrs. F. E. Learned had with her on the holiday, Mrs. Leeds H. Staples, Master Frank D. Learned entertained Master Wellington Staples, Miss Florence Staples, and Master Dickie MacDonald, all of Dorchester.

Mr. William G. Eaton of the School Committee presented the editor with a large bunch of handsome dahlias from his garden.

Mrs. W. G. Eaton has been away on a short visit to her brother, Mr. Eaton and the children missed her, but was glad that she had an outing.

Mrs. Learned's courage and fortitude are an inspiration to all who knew her.

HOLLIS STREET

Mary Robson, in "A Little Bit Old Fashioned," at the Hollis Street Theatre, in Boston, is making theatrical history in the city, for her and her new melodrama face have been acclaimed the comedy hit of the season.

This offering comes direct from a long run in Chicago, where even the torrid weather of the past unusual summer failed to decrease its following.

"A Little Bit Old Fashioned," written by Alan Nichols, is a refreshing, money play devoid of problems and only concerned with the wife of a zealot attorney who has kept pace in worldly things, but in the race for arms has left his wife far in the lurch, she being too much occupied with unselfish devotion to note the passing modes. It is her unique method of proving how very little external count in the real issues of life that furnishes the ruling motive of the play, but the disappearance of a $500,000 emerald, the wiles of a beautiful lady Raffles and the love affairs of a dainty maid all combine to furnish mystery, laughs and thrills.
